(Discuss importance in terms of historical or architectural context as defined by theme, period, and geographic scope. Also address integrity.)

The structure is located in the City of Huntington Park, in a small scale residential area. There are 3 single-family dwellings owned and operated as a multi-family residence. The structures are vernacular in style and mimic each other.

The integrity of the property is high as all three structures appear to be in good condition and reminiscent of their original design and layout. They remain today as in the 1930s; small single-family structures in a residential neighborhood of mixed single- and multi-family dwellings. Research of available historical records has not uncovered any significant associations of the occupants.
